

MemoryCart AI Return and Refund Policy

Return eligibility

We want every MemoryCart customer to be fully satisfied with their purchase. If you receive an item that does not meet your expectations, you may be eligible to return it. To qualify for a standard return, the item must be completely unused, unworn, unwashed, and in its original, pristine condition. It must also be securely placed in the original packaging, with all factory seals intact and all original tags still attached. Items that show signs of wear, alteration, or damage caused by the customer will not be accepted for return.

Return window

You have exactly 30 calendar days from the date your package is marked as "Delivered" to initiate a return. Returns requested after this 30-day window has expired will be politely declined. We encourage you to inspect your items immediately upon arrival to ensure they meet your requirements and to contact us promptly if you decide to make a return. Initiating a return is simple. You can log into your MemoryCart account, navigate to 'Order History', select the item you wish to return, and follow the on-screen prompts.

Refund timeline

Once your returned package arrives at our processing center, it will undergo a thorough inspection by our quality assurance team to verify its condition. This inspection process can take up to 3 business days. If the return is approved, we will immediately initiate a refund. After a refund has been approved and processed on our end, it may take additional time for the funds to appear in your account. Generally, refunds credited to major credit cards take between 5 to 7 business days to post, depending on your bank's specific processing cycles.

Exchanges

We currently only offer direct exchanges for items that arrive defective, damaged, or if you received an incorrect item due to a fulfillment error on our part. If you simply want a different color, size, or model, you will need to process a standard return for a refund and place a new, separate order for the desired item. For defective item exchanges, please contact our support team within 14 days of delivery with photographic evidence of the defect.

Damaged products

If your product arrives visibly damaged due to mishandling during transit, please take clear photos of both the damaged product and the damaged exterior packaging. Contact customer support within 48 hours of delivery with these photos. We will immediately arrange for a replacement to be sent out to you at no additional cost, or offer a full refund if the item is out of stock.

Non-returnable items

For reasons of hygiene, safety, and digital rights, certain product categories are strictly non-returnable. These include digital gift cards and store credit, downloadable software products, digital keys, and media. Additionally, personalized, engraved, or custom-made items cannot be returned. Perishable goods or intimate apparel are also excluded. Any item heavily discounted and explicitly marked as "Final Sale" at the time of purchase is completely non-returnable.